

The Committee, thinking to have seen Knepp there, but she did not act. And so to my bookseller's and there carried home some books; among others, Dr. Wilkins's Reall Character. And thence to Mrs. Turner's, and there went and sat and she showed me her house from top to bottom, which I had not seen before – very handsome. And here supped; and so home and got Mercer, and she and I in the garden singing till 10 at night; and so home to a little supper, and then parted with great content and I to bed. The Duchess of Monmouth's hip is I hear now set again, after much pain. I am told also that the Countesse of Shrewsbury is brought home by the Duke of Buckingham to his house; where his Duchess saying that it was not for her and the other to live together in a house, he answered, "Why, Madam, I did think so; and therefore have ordered your coach to be ready to carry you to your father's;" which was a devilish speech, but they say true; and my Lady Shrewsbry is there it seems.

16. Up; and to the office, where we sat all the morning. And at noon home with my people to dinner; and thence to the office all the afternoon, till, my eyes weary, I did go forth by coach to the King's playhouse and there saw the best part of The Sea Voyage, where Knepp I saw do her part of sorrow very well. I afterward to her house, but she did not come presently home; and here yo did besar her ancilla, which is so mighty belle. And I to my tailor's, and to buy me a belt for my new suit against tomorrow. And so home and there to my office, and afterward late walking in the garden; and so home to supper and to bed, after Nell's cutting of my hair close, the weather being very hot.

17. Lords day. Up, and put on my new stuff suit with a shoulder-belt, according to the new fashion, and the hands of my vest and tunic laced with silk lace of the colour of my suit. And so, very handsome, to church, where a dull sermon of a stranger. And so home and there I find W. How and a younger brother of his come to dine with me; and there comes Mercer and brings with her Mrs. Gayet, which pleased me mightily, and here was also W. Hewers; and mighty merry and after dinner to sing psalms; but Lord, to hear what an excellent Base this younger brother of W. How's sings, even to my astonishment and mighty pleasant. By and by Gayet goes away, being a Catholique, to her devotions, and Mercer to church, but we continued an hour or two singing, and so parted;
